8 Durand 41.3 miles 890' Flat to Very Hilly

Once you cross the bridge on Shirland Av, your ride for the next few miles is fairly flat. Going onto Yale Bridge Rd takes you past the beautiful Sugar River. When crossing the Sugar River there is a canoe landing with pit toilets. Once past the Sugar River, the hills become very steep. If you wish to avoid these hills, turn left at Wheeler Rd and go south to Fritz Rd and you will be back on the route. If you choose to explore your adventurous side, and take on these hills, you will experience a very tough but rewarding ride. This ride also takes you to the edge of Durand. There are stores in town if you need them. Coming back from Durand you cross the Sugar River again and return via the wonderful "tree cave road" that is called Pomeroy.
